

COORDINATE REMOTE VIEWING TRAINING (CRVT)

CRVT Report: 962

DATE/TIME CONDUCTED: 080915Nov82

SOURCE #: 63

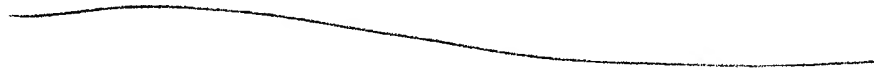

FILE #: 14

SITE: Hopkinton, MASS

EVALUATION: Valid S1, S2
 No sign of town
 Poor Site selection creates a CEP problem for S1, S2 viewing Back pain problems from infury.

TOM 8NOV82
0915

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

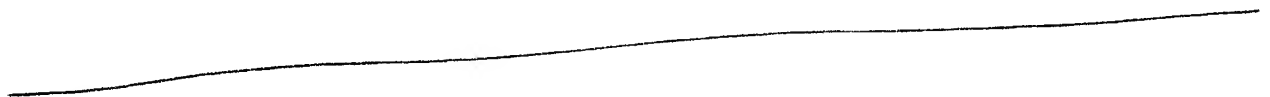

m Break

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

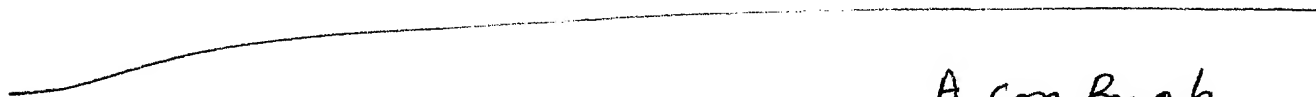

A-smooth
B-

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

A Smooth
B-

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

A con Break

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

A-Rising, falling
B-land

S-Z smooth PC
Rolling PC

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

A-Rolling
B-land c
S-Z

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

A Rolling
B land c

S-Z green off textured PC lite brown c hot open PC

42° 14' N
71° 52' W

A Rolling

B land

S-Z crusty pc

white c

cold c

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

A Can Break

42° 14' N
71° 32' W

A Flat, smooth

B land

S-Z

cold c

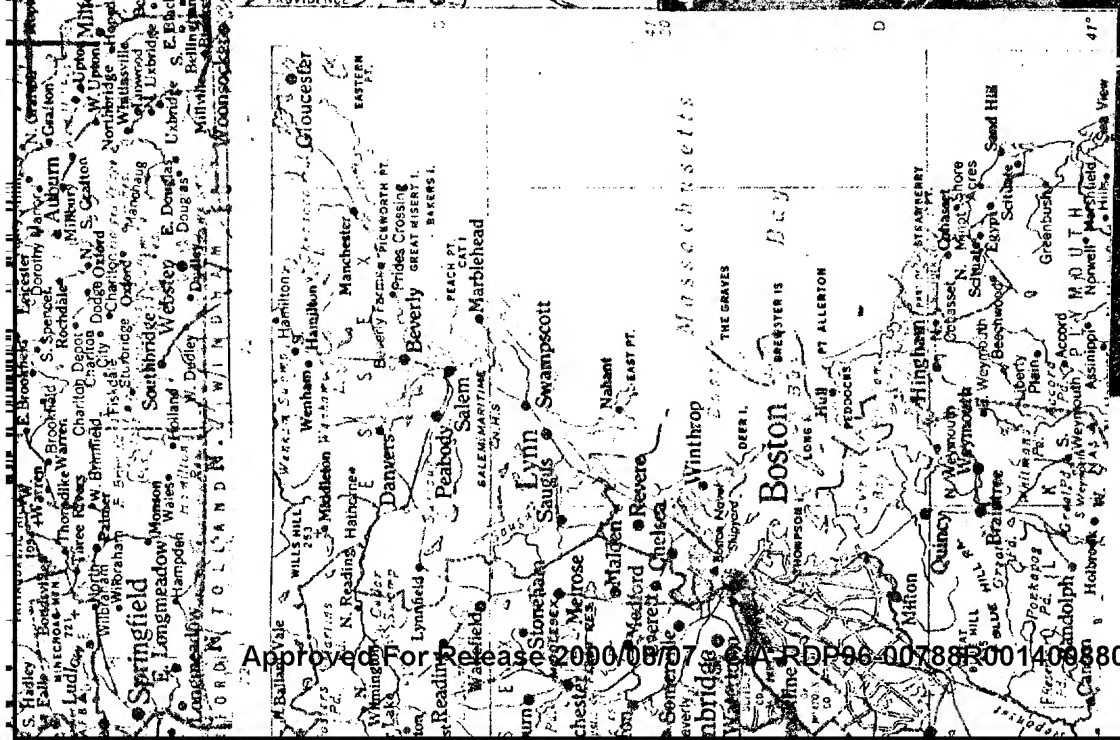

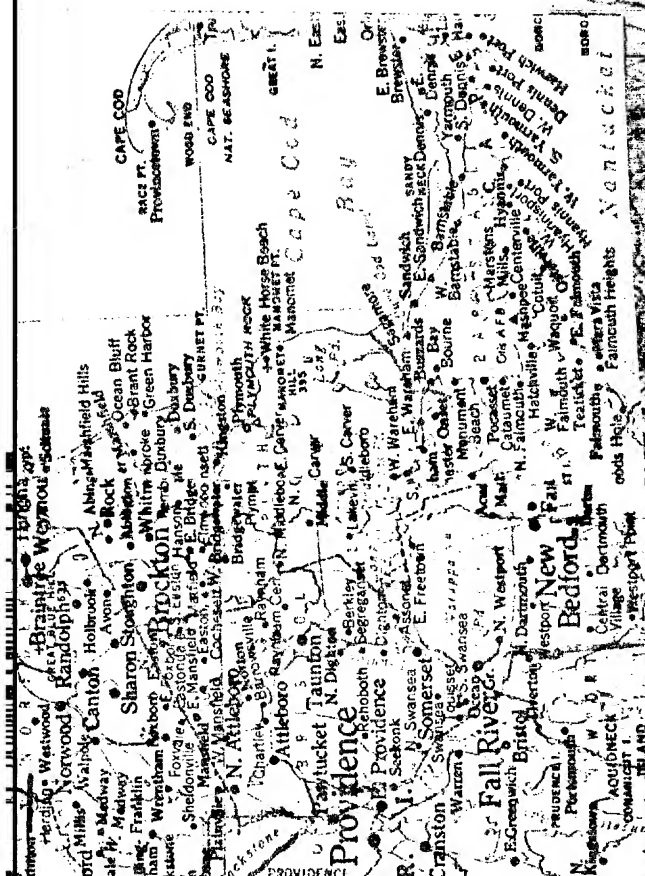

Windy pc

White cfb

Ad Break
open tundra

Land light
Gold and probably Crusty textured light brown open windy Rolling End

Charge of the blister brigade, the 7th annual Boston Marathon sets out from urban Boston (left) for Boston, 26 miles away. More than 1,500 hard-core runners entered the body-punishing event—including 65-year-old Johnny Kelley (below), who won in 1935 and 1945 and seven times finished second. Their legs pounding and lungs aching, contestants gulped water and encouragement from friendly spectators, stealing the thunder—for at least one day—from the city's professional baseball, hockey, football, and basketball teams.

CPYRGHT